CCS is different than traditional outpatient treatment.

It is designed to assist consumers whose mental health symptoms may impair their ability to participate in major life activities, such as school, work, socialization, and community living.

Program Highlights

CCS is a Medicaid-funded community-based mental health program that provides psychosocial rehabilitation and treatment services for children and adults with mental health and/or substance abuse issues.

Examples of Possible Services

- Service Facilitation
- Individual/Group Counseling
- Health Monitoring
- Peer Support
- Individual Skill Development
- Employment Support
- Symptom Management
- Recovery Education
- Coordination of Crisis Intervention

Services are determined individually through a strength-based assessment that considers consumer needs, preferences, and goals.

CCS seeks to empower consumers to achieve their highest level of functioning, independence and recovery.

Program Steps

MEETING & APPLICATION Consumers and their parent/guardian, (if applicable), meet with a service facilitator to review the program. If all parties wish to pursue the program, an application is completed and submitted.

ASSESSMENT Within 30 days of application, additional meetings are scheduled for a functional screen and comprehensive assessment to determine eligibility and to identify strengths, needs, and priorities for services and treatment. A recovery team is identified. The recovery team is a group of people who play a significant role in the person's life. Examples include family members, treatment providers, mentors, educators, and advocates.

RECOVERY PLAN Within 30 days of application, the consumer's recovery team convenes to determine recovery goals. The service facilitator prepares a recovery plan. The plan outlines all the treatment and services that will be provided, including frequency and team members available.

MONITOR & RE-EVALUATION Services outlined in the recovery plan will continue to be coordinated by the service facilitator. Progress is re-evaluated at least every 6 months by a recovery team identified by the consumer.

Recovery is based on your voice and your choice.
